Trezos and Bouya are slightly smaller than Feros and Jeyan, but still some of the biggest white gators in existence. Despite his fierce look, Trezos is the friendliest white gator at Gatorland. He welcomes visitors on guided tours several times a week during our popular "Trainer For The Day." He likes raw chicken, scratches on his tail, long walks on the beach, and limerick poetry. Ok, maybe we're kidding about the walks on the beach.

Did You Know:

Although Trezos, Bouya, Feros, and Jeyan are brothers, they're also giant bull gators. That's why they can't live together because big bull gators don't like other bull gators stompin' around their homes.
